

ABSTRACT

A medicament comprising a pharmaceutically acceptable anion exchange resin as an active ingredient is provided which exhibits an insulin resistance-improving action regardless of volume of meal or glucose absorption from the gastrointestinal tract.